"In conclusion I merely desire to say it is with a bitter sense of wrong and injury that I find myself called on to meet a report so unfair and censorious. I am sustained in this hour of trial by a consciousness of having acted with pure motives, of having overcome a natural reluctance to the course I adopted, and of having pursued my object against unanticipated difficulties and opposition until the principle for which I have contended has been accepted and established.

"I protest against the reflections and judgments upon me contained in the report. Its adoption would be a rebuke to official courage and independence, a blow to corporate morality, a warning in the future that a stand by a company's offiers against practices that are wrong. is attended with danger and risk, and the effect would be to encourage connivance at wrong and a mute acceptance rather than the courageous exposure of corporate disorders and frregularities." WHO WILL BE NEXT DIRECTOR TO RESIGN?

The one question to-day in the financial listrict was: "Who will be the next man to resign?" D. O. Mills stated to-night in no uncertain manner that his resignation would soon be before the Board of Directors, and he added that if the programme of electing a chairman of the board is to be carried through it will not be by the committee of seven named by the board on Friday. "I doubt very much," said Mr. Mills,

"whether the men named by the board on Friday can be persuaded to serve. Their selection was of the snap-action ordr and I will venture to say that they cannot be brought together next Wednesday, as planned. I have not made up my mind yet what course I shall take in the matter. "My decision will involve my own retirement from the directorate of the soclety, a step which, I am informed, several other members of the board are seriously considering. Just how many men may leave the board I am not prepared to say, but I look for some more resigna-There are several besides Mr. Frick and

They believe that the work of the committee at least "merited the thanks of the board, and no such courtesy was accorded." CORTELYOU OR LINCOLN

MAY BE THE CHAIRMAN.

Mr. Hyde said several weeks ago that he believed a chairman of the board ought to be chosen, and advocated the selection of some man of prominence, such as Grover Cleveland, Robert T. Lincoln or George R Cortelyou. The friend of the latter was Cornelius N. Blies, who is now no longer a member of the Board of Directors. Mr. Eliss favored Mr. Cortelyou It is not beyond the realm of possibility that Mr. Cortelyou will figure in the list of men for consideration. EQUITABLES BUSINE DECREASES $8,000,000.

In his speech to the Equitable Life directors at their meeting Friday, Gage E. Tarbell said the society's business fell off is course in May. He made new charges of extravagance, and declared that Mex-Henry B. Hyde, widow of the society's founder, receives $25,000 a year pension from the Equitable.

Tarbell predicted that the decline in the company's business in June might be even greater than that of May.

BOTH HYDE AND ALEXANGER ARE CENSURED BY COMMITTEE

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. New York, June 3.-In the Frick Investigating Committee's reports of its findings in connection with the affairs of the Equitable Life, each of the men prominent in the scandal has been condemned for some part he has taken in the affairs leading to present conditions. Scathing terms are applied to Mr. Alex-

Mr. Hyde is blamed for his part in many transactions, and the charges made Mr. Hyde is blamed for his part in many transactions, and the charges made against him by Mr. Alexander are, in some cases, upheld, while in others he is completely exonerated.

Mr. Tarbell is held responsible for going beyond the point of safety and prudence in his dealings with agenta.

After resuling at length the reasons for its appearament, the committee takes up the various points to be passed upon, and its indings goes into the detailed charges and countercharges, devoting a part of the

the various points to be passed upon, and its findings goes into the detailed charges and countercharges, devoting a part of the report to each as it is required. In its findings on the charges of Mr. Alexander, the latter himself is condensed by the committee, which says:

"Mr. Alexander does not claim to have brought the irregularities of Mr. Hyde to the attention of either the Finance Committee, the Executive Committee, or the Board of Inrectors at any time previous to February 6, 1866, and then only in connection with his argument to the special committee of twelve in respect to the maniculalization of the society, wherein, as he says, he referred in general terms to "the transactions above described, further details as to which were given in my letter to you of the 2d inst," meaning May 2, 1866. Mr. Alexander's explanation of this failure to bring these aliesed irregularities of Mr. Hyde to the attention of the proper authorities in the secrety is that he was not aware of them until January, 1866.

HYDE CONVICTED HYDE CONVICTED OF GROSS NEGLECT.

"In view of the grave duties and responsibilities and large powers cast upon the president of the society by its by-laws to which the committee has referred at length in a previous part of this report, this explanation, in the committee a opinion, convicts Mr. Alexander of gross neglect of his duties to the society. The transactions of such magnitude, and so numerous, and extending over such a long teriod of time, and affecting so many of the society's holdings of securities in so many corporations, could not have escaped the knowledge of a president who was giving to the affairs of the society such attention as is contemplated by his generation as is contemplated by his generation as is contemplated by his generation as in contemplated by his generative which it carries with it.

The committee has fully considered Mr. Hyde's explanations of these charges in the main he seeks to exonerate himself by the affairs of the society. As it is the function of the society, as it is the function of the committee to the office, with the powers which it carries with it.

The committee has fully considered Mr. Hyde's explanations of these charges in the society's management. Mr. Hyde's arguments cannot avail. The practices he has pursued are wrong. The fact that others have pursued them, or acquiesced in them, only convicts them of equal guilt.
